Welcome to the new and enhanced C-TPAT Portal! This version of the Portal has been designed and built for the trusted trade community to apply for and maintain C-TPAT membership.

This system replaces the former C-TPAT Portal 1.0 and includes enhancements such as the ability to use a single logon for multiple C-TPAT accounts and improved Discussion and Document Upload capabilities.

A complete user manual for the C-TPAT Portal can be found at the following link: www.cbp.gov/ctpat.

In the near future, this system will expand to allow C-TPAT partners with multiple accounts to maintain those accounts in a more holistic manner.

It is envisioned that this system will evolve into a Trusted Trader portal to allow the international trade community to register memberships in other U.S. and international trusted trader programs.

Protection (CBP) recognizes that a safe and secure supply chain is critical to the nation's security. For this reason, CBP is seeking a strong anti-terrorism partnership with the trade community through a voluntary government-business initiative to build cooperative relationships that strengthen supply chain security.

Through this initiative, CBP is asking businesses within the supply chain, such as importers, exporters, and manufacturers, to ensure the integrity of their security practices and to communicate and coordinate with CBP.

Even without official participation in C-TPAT, companies should consider following C-TPAT guidelines.

C-TPAT - Customs - Trade Partnership Against Terrorism

C-TPAT is a voluntary public-private sector partnership program which recognizes that CBP can provide the highest level of cargo security only through close cooperation with the principle stakeholders of the international supply chain such as importers, carriers, consolidators, licensed customs brokers, and manufacturers.

The program was established as a direct result of the tragic events of September 11, 2001. It was launched in November 2001 with seven major importers. Today, more than 10,000 partners - critical players in the global supply chain - have been certified as trusted Partners. And over 54% of all imports coming into the United States are C-TPAT certified.

C-TPAT partners who work with CBP to protect their international supply chains are afforded many benefits, including reduced inspections at the port of arrival, expedited processing at the border, and other significant benefits, such as "front of line" inspections and penalty mitigation. C-TPAT status may also be taken into consideration when unforeseen events occur which may result in a disruption or delay of CBP cargo processing.

If you are applying to C-TPAT please submit a completed Company and Security Profile.

4.1 Business Partner Requirements (Updated)

Importers must have written and verifiable processes for the selection of business partners including manufacturers and suppliers and vendors.

For those business partners eligible for C-TPAT certification (carriers, ports, terminals, brokers, consolidators) have documentation (e.g., C-TPAT certificate, SVI number, etc.) indicating whether these business partners are certified.

For those business partners not eligible for C-TPAT certification, importers must require their business partners they are meeting C-TPAT security criteria via written/electronic confirmation (e.g., contractual obligations; via a business partner officer attesting to compliance; a written statement from the business partner demonstrating C-TPAT security criteria or an equivalent WCO accredited security program administered by a foreign customs providing a completed importer security questionnaire). Based upon a documented risk assessment process, business partners must be subject to verification of compliance with C-TPAT security criteria by the importer.

Importers must conduct a comprehensive assessment of their security practices based upon the following C-TPAT criteria. Click on the following link for guidance on conducting a risk assessment:

Importers must have written and verifiable processes for the selection of business partners including suppliers, product suppliers and vendors.

Importers must identify business partners eligible for C-TPAT certification (carriers, ports, terminals, brokers, consolidators, etc.) and the importer must have documentation (e.g., C-TPAT certificate, SVI number, etc.) indicating whether these business partners are or are not C-TPAT certified.

For those business partners not eligible for C-TPAT certification, importers must require their business partners to demonstrate that they are meeting C-TPAT security criteria via written/electronic confirmation (e.g., contractual obligations; via a letter from a senior business partner officer attesting to compliance; a written statement from the business partner demonstrating their compliance with C-TPAT security criteria or an equivalent WCO accredited security program administered by a foreign customs authority; or, by providing a completed importer security questionnaire). Based upon a documented risk assessment process, non-C-TPAT eligible business partners must be subject to verification of compliance with C-TPAT security criteria by the importer.

Importers must conduct a comprehensive assessment of their security practices based upon the following C-TPAT minimum-security criteria. Click on the following link for guidance on conducting a risk assessment:

Available Program Memberships

C-TPAT - Customs - Trade Partnership Against Terrorism

C-TPAT is a voluntary public-private sector partnership program which recognizes that CBP can provide the highest level of cargo security only through close cooperation with the principle stakeholders of the international supply chain such as importers, carriers, consolidators, licensed customs brokers, and manufacturers.

The program was established as a direct result of the tragic events of September 11, 2001. It was launched in November 2001 with seven major importers. Today, more than 10,000 partners - critical players in the global supply chain - have been certified as trusted Partners. And over 54% of all imports coming into the United States are C-TPAT certified.

C-TPAT partners who work with CBP to protect their international supply chains are afforded many benefits, including reduced inspections at the port of arrival, expedited processing at the border, and other significant benefits, such as "front of line" inspections and penalty mitigation. C-TPAT status may also be taken into consideration when unforeseen events occur which may result in a disruption or delay of CBP cargo processing.

If you are applying to C-TPAT please submit a completed Company and Security Profile.

RE: IMPORTER 07312014

Dear C-TPAT Partner,

Our records indicate your company's response to its validation report in the Customs-Trade Partnership Against Terrorism (C-TPAT) program has not been completed, and is now PAST DUE. If you have already submitted your response prior to receiving this notice, please disregard this message.

If your company does not submit the response to its validation report within the next seven calendar days, your company will be referred to the C-TPAT Headquarters Program Office in Washington, D.C. for suspension. A suspension from the C-TPAT program will result in the loss of C-TPAT membership / benefits. This will also affect your company's Status Verification Interface (SVI) status, which will no longer reflect the company as a "certified" C-TPAT Partner. If you have any questions, please contact your Supply Chain Security Specialist, or visit the link Validation Response to post the response to your validation report.

This is a system generated email. Please do not respond to this email address.

Status Verification Interface (SVI)

- SVI is a unique partner monitoring system for C-TPAT members
- SVI was created to satisfy key requirements in the Minimum Security Criteria for Business Partners
- In the past, partners exchanged SVI tokens or numbers
- In Portal 2.0, SVI numbers will be replaced by an internal SVI monitoring system where monitoring requests will be placed and accepted within Portal 2.0
